ROUND-TABLE COUPLES TALK

Presented by Shea Chorney, Alex Watkins & Monica Rudd

Hosted by Jas Salh - Senior Wealth Advisor, iA Private Wealth

Protecting your Assets in Marriage and Marriage-like Relationships

Unmarried British Columbians can have the same rights and entitlements as married people do. It is important to know how to best protect your assets and plan for financial security when entering a marriage-like relationship. In this roundtable seminar, CBM Lawyers LLP associates Alex Watkins, Monica Rudd and Shea Chorney will explain what the court considers as “marriage-like”, or “common-law”. They will discuss steps you can take to protect yourself financially when you are planning to live in a common-law relationship or to get married, including the utility of prenuptial and cohabitation agreements.

Whether you are considering moving into your first home with your partner, or whether you are remarrying and want to protect your children’s financial future, this seminar will be of interest to you.
